

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A banknote receiver for use in a ticket vending machine, money exchange machine, or the like is constructed to include a housing with a banknote insertion slot, a detector unit formed of 5 an upper base and a lower base and mounted in the housing and adapted to scan the authenticity of banknote inserted into the banknote insertion slot, the detector unit defining an angled passage between the upper base and the lower base for guiding inserted banknote away from the banknote insertion slot to the 10 banknote storage cabinet, and a banknote storage cabinet adapted to receive verified banknote, the banknote storage cabinet having a spring member suspending in the banknote inlet thereof and adapted to prohibit reverse movement of received banknote.